The End of a Celebrated Suit. KANSAS CITY, July 13 .- The somewhat celebrated case of Abraham Harris against Louis Robidoux for $50,000 lamages for alleged kidnaping was de-ided in the circuit court at Liberty resterday, the result being a victory or the defendant. The case was originally brought in the circuit court of ackson county, but was taken to Clay ounty on a change of venue

The difficulty between Harris and tobidoux arose when the former was cting as an agent for Robidoux in runing an original package liquor house t Fort Scott, Kansas. Harris was arsted for violating the law, and Robioux went on his bond. Harris skipped ut to Texas, and not appearing for trial is bond was declared forfeited. Robiloux located Harri, in Texas, and had im arrested on the charge of embezding money white acting as his gent at Fort Scott. He did not appear to prosecute him, however, and Harris was released. Shortly aftern officer, he arrested him for jumping is bond and took him to Fort Scott. The court there refused to set aside the orfeitu e of the bond, and Robidoux gain charged Harris with embezzling noney, but, as before, he failed to pros-cute the case. When Harris was librated he came to Kansas City and instituted suit against Robidoux on three separate counts, asking for $50,000 lamages for kidnaping and false imorisonment.

The verdict of the jury yesterday was o the effect that the arrest of Harris vas not kidnaping, but that Robidoux had the right to have him apprehended anywhere after he had jumped his bond.

Some day, when the craze of politics as run its race and the people realize hat their public affairs are matters of mre business, that the fate of the iation never depends on the election of lones for senator, or of Smith for road oss, then the men who do this work vill be selected by some method deigned to ascertain their ability to do the work required.—St. Paul Globe.

The Berlin papers are devoting some space to a discussion of the new phenomenon presented by the fashion of women riding astride in the style of male equestrians. The custom is so plainly growing that it is no longer exciting special seconds. citing special wonder among the populace of the capital to see a lady riding man fashion through the parks. Nor is the habit at all frowned at by the upper classes, for it is mostly among the notables that its adoption seems to have taken root. The favorite costume for the purpose, as discovered by observation of the fashionable throng cantering through the Thiergarten on any fine day, is a black velvet bodice, silk tights, and divided skirts. The effect produced is no more outre than that of the ordinary female bicycler's attire.
